

Benefit #5

Improved Material Quality and Product Durability

Constructing a bridge on site to a high degree of quality can be challenging, given the harsh environments in which work crews can be exposed. Better material and quality control in prefabrication facilities, as shown here, leads to improved quality and long-term durability for prefabricated elements.