WELCOME TO MIAMI FLORIDA

Welcome! On behalf of Florida International University (FIU) and Accelerated Bridge Construction University Transportation Center (ABC-UTC), I welcome you to the 2023 CUTC Summer Meeting! I hope that you enjoy your time here in Miami, Florida. Here you will see first-hand some of the challenges facing coastal cities, including the expansion of communities into areas more vulnerable to natural hazards, the surge in severity and frequency of extraordinary events pronounced by the effects of the climate change, and the impact of a high concentration of tourists/visitors on limited infrastructure.

Transportation networks have a critical role to play within general infrastructure. Design of new roads and bridges, and maintenance, preservation, and upgrade of the existing transportation network to withstand against adverse effects and continue the access to vulnerable communities present itself as an important mission for professional communities and transportation centers. Southern Florida is "ground zero" in terms of vulnerability of the transportation network to extraordinary events like hurricanes. Climate change and related phenomena are also starting to take a toll on this already vulnerable region.

I hope that you enjoy yourself during the conference and learn how UTCs are impacting our nation as we work to improve the transportation industry/sector. If there is anything I can do to improve your experience during the meeting, don't hesitate to ask. Thank you for coming to Miami, Florida and have a great time!

ATOROD AZIZINAMINI, PHD, P.E.

Director, Accelerated Bridge Construction-University Transportation Center (ABC-UTC)

Director, Infrastructure Research and Innovation, Office of Research & Economic Development, Florida International University

ABOUT THE HOST:

Welcome to Florida International University, Miami's public research university. For over four decades, FIU has positioned itself as one of South Florida's anchor institutions by solving some of the greatest challenges of our time. We are dedicated to enriching the lives of the local and global community.

We at FIU have been at the forefront of activities to understand the effects of climate change and to devise means for mitigation. We experience these effects directly and have much at stake if threats to infrastructure are not addressed properly. FIU houses the National Hurricane Center (NHS) with a mission to save lives, mitigate property losses, and support the resiliency of our community against storms by forecasting, warning, understanding and education on these extraordinary events. FIU's Wall of Wind (WOW) facility with the capability of generating hurricane level wind, is dedicated to research on the effects of hurricanes and means of mitigation. The ABC-UTC and the Lehman Center of Transportation (LCTR) in the College of Engineering and Computing of FIU are also geared toward resilience of coastal communities and improving transportation through innovative approaches.
